

Docket #: S03-157A

Anti-MLL.N Monoclonal Antibody

Monoclonal antibody that recognizes MLL, an oncoprotein that is mutated in a broad subset of pediatric and adult leukemias. MLL protein displays histone methyltransferase activity.

Advantages

- Improved monoclonal antibody directed against the protein. Useful for biochemical studies of ML1.

Innovators

- Michael Cleary
- Paul Ayton

Licensing Contact

Brenda Martino

Biological Materials Specialist

Email